ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETED FOR NEW HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

George A. Paff of Monessen
Is Made Chairman of Committee

TO ORGANIZE NEARBY TOWNS

A meeting of the general committee of the proposed Upper Monongahela Valley campaign for a large modern hospital was held last night at the home of George A. Paff, manager of the Page Woven Wire Co., in Monessen. This is the committee that was selected at the meeting in Donora last Monday evening, composed of men from Donora, Monessen and Charleroi. In attendance last evening were R. E. Hoopes, of Donora; G. A. Paff and John S. Duffell, of Monessen; J. W. Berryman and S. L. Woodward, of Charleroi. Organization was perfected by the selection of G. A. Paff as chairman, and J. M. Hennigan as secretary.

The meeting was devoted to a general outline of campaign plans and the appointment of town chairmen and committeemen, as well as to a general discussion of the project. It was reported that highly encouraging comments were heard in all sections of the valley on the development of the new hospital idea into a community proposition that would embrace all the towns in the Upper Monongahela Valley.

The selection of a town chairman for Monessen was left in the hands of Chairman Paff of the general committee who will call a meeting of men actively interested in the Board of Trade at once and ask for their assistance in naming a man to head up the movement in Monessen.

Other town chairmen selected last evening were as follows:

For Donora—Benjamin Bians.
Belle Vernon—Thomas McKinley.
Charleroi—John Berryman.
Fayette City—Guy Brown.
Bentleyville—Herbert Herzog.

Selections will be decided on at the next meeting for the towns of California and Ellsworth. The question of a proper, centrally located, convenient site for the proposed hospital, was talked over, and action taken following along the line suggested at the big meeting held in Donora on Monday night. A hospital site committee composed of one man from Donora, Monessen, and Charleroi was appointed last evening. This committee will look over the territory as to available sites and will report to a subsequent meeting of the general committee, with recommendations.

Another meeting of the general committee will be held on Friday evening of this week at eight o'clock in campaign in all the towns in this Chairman Paff's office at the Page Woven Wire Co.'s main office in Monessen. All members of the general committee, and the town chairmen, are expected to attend.

THE BILL PRITTS DISTILLERY HAS BEEN SOLD

The Bill Pritts' distillery in Saltlick township, Fayette county, has been sold by the internal revenue department to James Pritts for $505.50 the amount due in government taxes. The plant was seized for taxes on the whiskey removed from bond some time ago without authority and said to have been stolen. The ramshackle buildings are being dismantled to secure the copper in the stills.

WILL NOT ALLOW NEAR BEER SALES

No matter how low may be the percentage, beverages containing alcohol may not be legally sold in Westmoreland county, under existing conditions, according to a statement made by District Attorney Nevil Cort. Near beer including but one-half of one per cent alcohol or less was included, he said, and sellers of it were liable to arrest for violation of the Brooks High License act. The district attorney pointed out where in the conditions prevailing in Westmoreland county were different from those in Allegheny and other counties due to the fact that no license to sell alcoholic beverages had been issued by the court of that county under the Brooks law. The district attorney stated that in cases where complaint might be made by citizens against the sale of near-beer containing a low percentage of alcohol he would act.

Good Progress on Concrete Road

The contractor on the improvement of the concrete road between Monongahela and Donora is making very satisfactory progress. The work of relaying the surface is now in progress and it is expected that over one hundred feet of surfacing will be placed every day.

Some delay was caused by having to obtain a larger boom pole for the hoisting arrangement at the river, to unload sand and gravel from the flats and further delay was caused by a break in the cement mixer, which suggested at the big meeting held in Donora on Monday night. A However, the work is now progressing very nicely at the present time and the road should be completed and turned over to the county some time early in the coming fall.

above mentioned are expected to attend.

It is the intention of the general committee to proceed at once in the development of plans for a thorough campaign in all the towns in this Chairman Paff's office at the Page Woven Wire Co.'s main office in Monessen. All members of the general committee, and the town chairmen, are expected to attend.

Bentleyville Damage Is Estimated at $35,000

The loss incurred by the fire at Bentleyville early Wednesday morning, according to later estimates, will amount to about $35,000. Of this amount at least $16,000 is covered by insurance. The origin of the fire, which is somewhat mysterious, is now believed to have been accidental origin, and to have been caused by a cigaret butt dropped in the stable owned by Mrs. B. F. Crouch. A teamster employed by Melvin Petzer, who kept his horses in the stable, was in the building at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, but noticed nothing out of the ordinary. The horses owned by Mr. Petzer, three in number, were lost in the fire, having been caught in the stable, and could not be rescued. An automobile belonging to Blaine Riggie, and stored in the barn, was also destroyed by the fire. Altogether there were wiped out two store buildings, the contents of three stores, six homes and two barns, and the main school building of the town was damaged to the extent of about $200.

July Meeting of W. M. F. Society

The annual July meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was held on the lawn of the Rodgers home on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was well attended and of unusual interest. Rev. Allison conducted the devotional, after which Miss Carrie Carnahan gave a splendid talk on Mexico, the most interesting feature being the mission field and the work in which Miss Rodgers will be engaged. Miss Kenyon of Connellsville, a returned missionary from Malaysia, dressed four of the ladies in Malaysia attire and in a pleasing manner told of her work in that country. Miss Beihl spoke of her work in India and made a special plea for the orphans of that land caused by the "flu." Mrs. Allison spoke briefly of the Centenary at Columbus and how wonderful it was. Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Bosson sang a duet, a very pleasing feature of the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess.

WERE MARRIED AT THE COUNTY SEAT

Wednesday afternoon at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. R. G. White, of 53 West Wheeling street, Washington, Pa., occurred the marriage of Hugh Glenn Coulter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coulter, of Speers, and Miss Mary M. Dickey, daughter of Mrs. Laura L. Dickey of Monongahela. The ring ceremony was used. Mr. and Mrs. Coulter will reside at Speers.

PROPOSE GENERAL HOSPITAL AT CONNELLSVILLE

A special committee has been chosen to study the possibilities of establishing a general hospital for Connellsville. The Cottage Hospital is held to be inadequate to meet the needs of the territory.

Monessen Hotels to Sell "Near Beer"

Taking over the contract to handle one-half per cent beer in Monessen, E. J. Reilly and John Butler, hotel proprietors, on Tuesday opened their bars with "near beer," it is reported, in defiance of the statement of the district attorney of Westmoreland county, that "near beer" could not be sold under the "no license laws" of the state. It is said the hotel men have formed a partnership to handle a brew made by the Pittsburgh Brewing company, and have taken over the warehouses of the brewing company in Monessen in which to store their stock.

VACCINATION LAW IS UPHELD BY COURT

In a decision handed down at Chambersburg, in the Franklin county courts on Wednesday, Judge Gillen upheld the validity of the law requiring school children between the ages of 8 and 16 to be vaccinated. The decision followed a controversy initiated when several deaths resulted, it is said, from vaccination in Chambersburg.

Mrs. Harrison Branka, wife of Mrs. Fanny Branka, died at the family home, 1004 McKean avenue, Wednesday morning, July 23, at 10 o'clock. Funeral services Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. John's Orthodox Russian church, in Charleroi cemetery.

Members of the Frances Willard class of the Methodist church will meet with Miss Rodgers this evening instead of Friday evening. Those going will take the 7:10 p. m. car.

Chief Albright is a Pittsburgh visitor this afternoon on a business mission.

MONONGAHELA MAN HELD FOR GRAND JURY

A coroner's jury at Connellsville held Robert S. McMahan of Monongahela for action by the grand jury following a hearing into the death of Fred Cortel, at Trotter, Fayette county. McMahan in testifying said he with Kenneth Simpson of Ellwood were traveling along the road and were accosted by a man whom he said had a handkerchief over his face. The shooting followed.

MUST KEEP RECORD OF ALL STORED CARS

Proprietors of public garages throughout Pennsylvania have had their attention called by letter to the provisions of the act approved by Governor Sprout June 30 requiring that records must be kept of all cars stored or left for repairs in every garage in the state. The provisions of this act are now in force. A special form has been prepared by the State Highway Department, and this must be used by the garage men. Records must be kept in ink or indelible pencil and shall be open to inspection of police or other authorities for one year from date. A stiff fine is provided for failure to keep records.

Police authorities declare that the keeping of these records will do much to end the stealing of automobiles. The record sheet contains spaces wherein a complete description of the car is kept—the make of machine, manufacturer's number, make of engine, number of engine, and other information. The sheet has been prepared so that it will be of great assistance to garage men in keeping "tabs" on their own business.

With the Highway Department receiving complete information concerning stolen cars, and garages keeping records of cars received or stored, it will be possible quickly to locate stolen automobiles if they remain in Pennsylvania.

PRICE OF HOGS STILL SOARING

The old h. c. of l. is still skyrocketing, as is seen by the figures quoted in the Pittsburgh market on Wednesday for hogs. The highest price ever quoted for hogs in the United States was recorded in Pittsburgh on Wednesday when medium and heavy porkers brought from $23.75 to $24.10 per 100 pounds. The previous high record was reached in that city several days ago when a mark of $23.90 was set up.

They say the turkey crop will be a big one—but the prices will be high. Why?

Would Be More Expensive Method of Building Roads Than One in Use

WOULD NOT BE SATISFACTORY

"Why isn't it possible for the State Highway department to order the construction of new highways in half sections, so that half of the road can be used while the other half is being built?"

The question has been asked the State Highway department frequently since the work began in earnest on the primary system of highways planned by Governor Sprout and Highway Commissioner Sadler. Replying to the query the department issues the following statement: "The half-section plan of construction is impracticable and not economical in Pennsylvania in the building of modern-type pavements, because of the general narrowness of Pennsylvania thoroughfares. Roads so constructed would not give satisfaction, inasmuch as it would not be possible to avoid variable conditions in the construction of the two sides.

"Contractors will bid much higher on this type of construction, because they would have to cover the length of the road twice, instead of once. Materials can only be stored in one-half the road.

Especially where the road is dusty there is a marked disadvantage in using a half-wide section, because the materials become dirty, not only from the dust, but from dirt thrown up by traffic.

"The congested right-of-way—that is, the small width from fence line as well as the width necessary for heavy grading on most Pennsylvania roads, mitigate against half-way construction. Contractors would be handicapped through traffic tying up grading operations. And Pennsylvania roads carry more bridges which would have to be rebuilt, than do most other states.

"Most of the construction on the state's primary system cannot be classed as resurfacing. In discussing the half-width idea, the only economical and reasonable way, so far as the state is concerned—and most certainly the contractor—is to eliminate traffic from the section being reconstructed. Both time and money are saved. Any other course would be poor housekeeping."

ENDORSE CANDIDATES FOR BOROUGH OFFICES

At a meeting of the Charleroi civic league held Tuesday evening, endorsement was given to candidates who are expected to stand for nomination and election to borough offices. This list includes candidates for council, school board, constable and assessor.

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."

Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

PARSLEY POINTED A MORAL

Youngster Quick to See the Point Which His Father Was Endeavoring to Make.

In an Indiana town where crookedness in city affairs has been reigning for years, a lucrative position was offered to a lawyer. It was not because the salary itself was so large, but the possibilities the position offered were many. But still a string was attached and the lawyer knew it. So he turned down the job.

His high-school son was provoked because his father had not accepted. He grumbled about it in subtle little ways for several days and then one day his father came to school after the boy to accompany him to a friend's farm. Once there he showed the delighted youngster all over the farm, last visiting the pen in which the hogs were being fed for the market.

The boy eyed them a few minutes and then asked, "What is that they're eating so ravenously?"

The farmer answered: "Why, that's parsley. It's the best hog fattener I know of. We just turn them into a patch of parsley and they do the rest themselves. It's too good picking for them to resist. When I decide that a pig is almost ready for the market I just turn him into the parsley patch, and soon he's just in the right condition to go to the slaughtering house."

"It's too bad they don't know what's coming to them so that they stay away from the parsley patch," laughed the boy. "I'm sure I would if I were to turn hog."

His father merely looked at him for a minute and then he said: "Parsley always has looked like graft to me—very inviting, easy to get, and plenty of it while it lasts, and then at the end inevitably the slaughtering pen." This time the boy understood.—Indianapolis News.

NEVER WASTEFUL IN SPEECH

One Thing at Least in Which the American People Are Economical to a Degree.

The country as a whole has lost the "hang" of speaking English. Some people proudly state that America is no longer a British colony, that she is creating a language of her own, and, to prove their independence, they make a practice of incorporating into our speech sounds without definite edges, sounds trailing clouds of muttered murmurs, sounds of such elemental simplicity that they resemble grunts, taken over from the speech of persons who have come to us from all non-English-speaking countries of the world. And, in their love of equality and fraternity, these people refuse to exceed the speech of those whose simple needs are satisfied with a frugal vocabulary; in this way they have succeeded in cutting down their own vocabularies to the bare minimum point. Lavish, generous, wasteful in other matters, the country has learned to economize in sentence and syllable, till it has reached a genuinely democratic simplicity of speech.—Henry Dwight Sedgwick, in Yale Review.

Canadian Fisheries.

The total value of the produce of Canadian fisheries during 1917 was $52,312,044, compared with $39,208,878 in 1916 and $26,860,780 in 1915. These totals represent the marketed product and have just been given out by the Dominion fisheries department in its annual report.

"Canada possesses the most extensive fisheries in the world," says the report. "Those of Norway and the British Isles alone dispute Canada's supremacy. The fertility of Canadian waters is indicated by the fact that the entire catch of salmon, lobster, herring, mackerel and sardines, nearly all the haddock, and much of the cod, hake and pollack, are taken within 10 or 12 miles of shore."

Legerdemain.

"Them city sharpers are a heap too smart for us country jakes," admitted the gent from Simpson Junction, upon his return from the Big Burg. "To be on the safe side, before I started from home I had a pocket guide on the inside of my shirt, and put two $10 bills in it and sealed it up with court plaster. And I'll be Johnbrowned if somewhere along the line somebody didn't steal my $20, slick and clean! And what fumigates me is how in Hankett they got my shirt off and put it back on again without removing my coat and vest or even giving me a hint of it!"—Kansas City Star.

Unconvincing Camouflage.

"Germany's camouflage republicanism," said Rear Admiral Taylor, "reminds me of a beggar."

"This beggar had been blind, but one day he hopped up to a patron, looked him in the eye, and demanded alms."

"Why," said the patron, "have you recovered your sight?"

"The beggar nodded."

"You see," he explained, "my dog died, and not having time to train another I had to become deaf and dumb."

Silverite a New Metal.

A new development in the alloying of aluminum with other metals has just been accomplished by the production of "silverite." This metal is something entirely new and is composed of a mixture of aluminum and copper, zinc and steel in varying proportions, according to requirements. The alloying of steel with aluminum is something startling and at first thought seems to be impossible, yet it is successful.

Opportunity Overlooked.

It is strange that the sublime and awe-inspiring beauty of the Rocky mountains, with their marvelous canyons, impetuous, dashing streams, shadowy pools and exquisite valleys, should not have inspired romantic names. The very atmosphere of the locality casts a spell over any man or woman in whose composition is woven the thinnest thread of poetic fancy. ret the names Mount St. Elias, Mount Shasta, Mount Hooker, Mount Brown, Pike's peak and so on are as practical as the lettering on grocers' boxes and suggest about as much romance as the word wasday. Even Zebulon M. Pike, the man for whom the great peak was named, would appear to have had nothing more to say about it than to express his opinion that no human being could ascend to its pinnacle.

On Life's Journey.

CHIROPRACTIC EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS

Occasionally it is asked in good faith how much education the Chiropractor has back of him. When the people learn that Chiropractic is more than a "punch in the back," they naturally wonder whether the profession stands upon educational preparative quality with other systems. Such is the case.

From its inception the Chiropractic profession has used its influence to pass legislation in every state requiring high educational requirements, for in this alone is the protection to the public against the incompetent.

Upon inquiry we find the standards given below are true to facts. The studies as given in Osteopathy are those necessary for colleges recognized by the American Osteopathic Association. The standard as given in The Chiropractic is that submitted by the Palmer School of Chiropractic, the parent school, located at Davenport, Iowa, U. S. A.

It will be noted, in the main, that the greatest difference exists between the theories of the cause of diseases and how they should be taken care of. Close analysis of the above chart will also show that the Chiropractic School takes exception to many physiological laboratory deductions and has substituted its ideas in Clinical findings, in addition to those taught by other Schools; often teaching both views.

In addition there are many new subjects noted under the Chiropractic list not taught in any other school. It is because of these great differences that neither of the older Schools are qualified to examine Chiropractors, therefore the request for separate Legislation letting qualified and properly prepared Chiropractors examine those of their own school.

The Palmer School of Chiropractic has a course of three years of six months each (18 months solid) five days per week, thirteen class hours a day—one day each week (Saturday) four class hours; study hours are apart from these. In point of hours as much time is spent in The Palmer School of Chiropractic as is covered in three years of a Medical College.

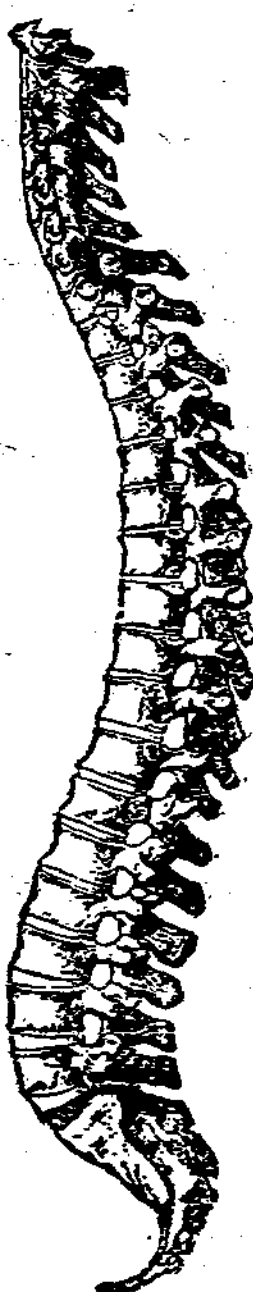

The faculty of The Palmer School of Chiropractic consists of 12 persons, whose salaries total $20,100 per year. This school is one of the very few institutions which requires its faculty members to give the School their undivided time. The enrollment annually of this Chiropractic school is over 800 students, male and female. Eighteen foreign countries were represented in 1917. Since May 1, 1909, the clinic list has been over 23,000 different patients for students to adjust and observe, averaging 3,500 yearly. Over 25,000 X-ray pictures exposed and developed within the last five years. The school possesses an osteological collection containing over 8,000 specimens, valued at $25,000.

So far as subjects covered, hours actually spent, thoroughness in methods and laboratories, the work of the Chiropractor is equal, if not superior, to other schools in many ways and methods.

Because of the extreme difference in theory, method, practice and results it would be extremely unfair to place any one of these systems over control of any other.

VETO FOR THE RAMSEY REER BILL

Following the refusal of Congress to permit the manufacture of 2.75 percent beer, Governor Sprout on Wednesday vetoed the Ramsey bill authorizing the manufacture of low percent beers. From statements made during the debate on the measure it was regarded in Harrisburg that such matters were national issues following the passage of the wartime prohibition act.

Teachers Joining New Association

Although many teachers did not avail themselves of the opportunity there was a fair showing in the membership of the State Teachers' retirement association, application for membership in which recently closed, by the teachers of Washington county.

During the last few days before the time limit for application filing quite a number of teachers filed the necessary papers and became members of the association. It was absolutely necessary for teachers just entering the profession to do this. Teachers who had been employed for several years past automatically became members of the association.

The WORLD'S HARDEST WORK

How Indiana Trucks Stood the Acid Test

Don't buy a weakling in a Motor Truck. Buy one that can do the world's toughest truck work which is:

- 1—Western Ore Hauling
- 2—Oil-Field Work
- 3—Mountain Hauling
- 4—Southern Lumber Hauling

In the western ore fields the only truck that consistently for years has stood up and outstripped trucks costing $1000 to $2000 more and stood the gaff like the steel giant it is is the Indiana Truck.

The hardest oil-field work in the world is that in the Wyoming field; some of which is without any roads at all.

The Indiana stands up and does work that no other truck will do. It is easily champion in the Wyoming oil-fields.

In the Tulsa field, in the Ranger field, which are more difficult for trucks than any European battle-ground, the Indians have stood the test where others failed utterly.

For seven years, after every other truck had failed to conquer the wild rocky mountain roads between Campbellsville and Columbia, Ky., two Indiana Trucks have been hauling freight, mail and passengers at an excellent profit to their owners. Due to the fierceness of the task, no other truck was ever able to do the work.

So you see the World's Hardest Truck Work done by Indiana Trucks because we built them over-size in every part and dimension, a thing this organization did from the day it built its first truck, which is running today.

Old Indiana Trucks, which we have traced, have run 100,000 miles and over and are still at work. If Indiana 100,000 Mile Trucks will do the world's toughest hauling-work, they will do yours.

Indiana Sales are going ahead with great rapidity, 76% increase the past month. Indians are sold at less cost to you than trucks they outstripped in the work outlined above.

FISH THAT KNOWS NO FEAR

Killer Whale Easily Holds Title of Most Ferocious of the Animals of the Deep.

The killer whale is one of the most deadly animals that swim in the sea. Killers are found in almost every ocean of the world, but, because of the nature of their food, they use as feeding grounds the sounds and bays along the coast, rather than the open sea. They are ferocious pursuers, constantly destroying more than they eat.

"Killers apparently will eat anything that swims," says Roy C. Andrews, of the American Museum, who has been studying whales for some time. "Fish, birds, seals, walrus and other whales are all its prey. Its capacity is almost unbelievable. There is a record of thirteen porpoise and fourteen seals being taken from the stomach of a 21-foot specimen." The capacity of the killer has given rise to a number of fantastic tales, one of which tells of a killer being seen with a seal under each flipper, a third under its dorsal fin and a fourth in its mouth. In pursuing, the killer bellows in a terrifying manner.

Killers are the only whales that feed upon their own kind. They sometimes go in company by dozens and set upon a young whale, biting him like so many bulldogs. Some will lay hold of his tail, while others bite at his head and thrash him until the animal dies. So great is the strength of the killer that a single one, by fastening its teeth into the body of a dead whale being towed by several whaling boats, can carry it to the bottom in an instant. They know no fear and in parties they will attack the largest whale.

Not even a ship, or a number of ships can daunt the ferocious killer, who frequently, through its boldness, help whaling parties by terrifying their mutual prey into nonresistance. From an American Museum of Natural History Bulletin.

MANY PERSONS 'SOUND BLIND'

Peculiar Affliction That It Is Now Asserted Is Not Uncommon Among Mankind.

Color blindness is by no means an uncommon complaint, for many people, although they may possess perfect eyesight for reading or seeing long distances, are quite unable to distinguish between green and red and many other pairs of colors. Lately it has been found that some suffer from an exactly similar affection of the hearing power—that is, an inability to distinguish particular shades of sound. A school teacher reports a boy who could not distinguish at all between the sounds of "very," "perry" and "Polly," and yet he could hear at as great a distance as anybody. Another counsellor would spell "Different" "drifent." He said that was how it sounded to him. Several others ran the letters "r," "n" and "l" together in a hopeless way, being unable to tell one from the other.

Robert Louis Stevenson's Prayer.

Robert Louis Stevenson's last prayer tells us how all great men live by faith of the life immortal. Assembling his servants, at the end of the day, in his house in Samoa, he prayed: "Behold us with favor, folk of many families and nations; gathered together in the peace of this room. Weak men and women, subsisting under the covert of thy patience, be patient still. Suffer us yet a while longer, with our broken purposes of good, with our idle endeavor against evil. Bless to us our extraordinary mercies: if the day come when these must be taken, brace us to play the man under affliction. Call us up with morning faces and with morning hearts, eager to labor, eager to be happy, if happiness shall be our portion, and, if the day be marked for sorrow, strong to endure."—From a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Giotti.

Vincenzo Giotti was a native of Bologna, born about 1580. He became a scholar of Dionysius Calverte at the time that Guido Reni studied under that master. At twenty years of age he went to Rome in company with Guido, and there painted some pictures. He was then invited to the court of Naples, where he passed the remainder of his life. Giotti possessed so ready an invention, and such surprising facility, that Orlandi states, from a list of his works, found after his death, that he had painted no fewer than 218 pictures for public positions in the different towns of the kingdom of Naples. He died at Reggio in 1636.

Study the Words of Songs.

In their efforts to secure good diction—by taking lessons from a high-priced coach—singers often overlook the benefit which may be secured by reading, with careful attention, the texts of the songs they are to sing.

It is manifest that a singer who cannot give an intelligent reading of a poem cannot give an intelligent interpretation of that poem in singing. The value of each word, each phrase, and their relations to each other, and to the whole thought, are legitimate objects for thorough study. Especially is this true of the pause which is so valuable in speech or in the reading of a poem.

A Benefactor.

"I owe a debt of gratitude to that man."

"That grouchy magazine editor? Why?"

"He refused to publish a lot of poetry I wrote in my youth."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

EDITOR'S THANKS FOR A BUNDLE OF FOOD

A rural subscriber of Harry Pore's Monessen Independent made a contribution of radishes to this office a few days ago and, the editor thus returned his thanks for the generosity of the giver.

"Cyrus MaShaffrey, a farmer residing on acres east of town has extended his courtesies to this office by bringing in eleven radishes. It has been a long time since a farmer brought anything to the Independent office and we have forgotten exactly how to write a rural card of thanks, but painful as it is, here goes.

"In the first place the editor doesn't eat radishes, but he has a growing appetite for spring chicken, veal, pork, ham, country butter, water melon, canteloupe, turkey, apple sauce, spaghetti, corn on the cob, cider, pumpkin pie and a lot of other stuff too expensive to think about. A crate of raspberries would have been acceptable at this time. But we must thank the gentleman and show that the spirit of kindness is appreciated even though we don't eat radishes. It is sometimes hard to do, but the greater the reward for performing a hard task. It may be that in the market the radishes would be worth only ten cents, but the spirit in which they were tendered in this particular instance, makes them worth more than a million.

"We assure farmer Mack that the radishes won't be masticated; neither will they be permitted to rot or decay. We want them to petrify and become hard as bricks so we can hang them on the front of the desk and gaze upon them long after farmer Mack has passed away and his farm has been turned over to his heirs, administrators and assigns. Thank you, Cyrus, bring something next time that will assist us with the H. C. of L as above suggested."

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I want to tell the world the good this medicine does." This woman is perfectly justified and should be commended for telling others how she regained her health.
